MAC SOFTBALL

Mac Mudders, on Friday afternoon of the fall meeting, took advantage of a thin SOA nine and a saturated make shift diamond to record their first win in four tries, 22-12. Although Joel Wurl pitched superbly for SOA, a lack of hitting and inconsistent fielding led to the loser's demise. MAC's aggressive infield silenced SOA's powerful bats. When SOA's players were finally able to hit Bill Wallach's sixteen foot pitches they were quickly gobbled up by rangers Pat (No Respect) Quinn, Charles (Turk) Shultz, who fans said would play for anyone for the right price, Marion (The Glove) Matters, and Maynard (The Pillar) Brichford. MAC's outfield play was led by fleet ageing rovers Dave Klaassen and Robert Graham, who played errorless ball, although Graham was 0 for 4 at the plate. MAC hammers included Maynard Brichford, Eric Pumroy, Greg Kinney, Dave Klaassen, and the ever "un"reliable "Archie."

From the bottom of the first inning SOA played "catch-up" ball. However, there appeared to be a discrepancy in the score, especially as an unidentified MAC senior officer was the self-designated score keeper. The losers were led at the plate by Kevin Proffit, Bob Smith, and Mr. November, Paul Yon. A great effort was turned in by Rai Goerler in left field. The outfield was somewhat hampered by the injury to George (The Willie) Bain. Although slowed by a pulled hamstring Willie continued to hit safely in four times at bat. Later that evening players, fans, bat people, score keepers and the like all enjoyed rehashing the afternoon's events at the traditional MAC mixer. An aura of "satisfaction (smugness)," was observed by this reporter surrounding the MAC players, while SOA players were beginning to formulate plans, which I overheard, would surprise MAC players at the next encounter. Paul Yon
